

Biodiversity Conservation and Sustainable Livelihoods Seminar Series
Spring 2006

DATE	PRESENTER	TITLE
Jan. 17 th	Josh Posner	Class orientation and IGERT overview
Jan. 24	Ed Friedman	Chinese environmentalism in historical and political perspective
Jan. 31	Sam Kung	Geology, Hydrology, Landscapes and Soils of Yunnan: A Natural Wonder that....
Feb. 7	Yongming Zhou	A New Conservation Approach: Ecomuseums in SW China
Feb. 14	Joy Zedler	Global wetlands: Values and threats
Feb. 21	Jan Salick	Tibetan Ethnobotany
Feb. 28	Volker Radeloff	Identifying habitat change and conservation threats with satellite image change analysis
March 7	Jess Reed	Nutritional ecology of mammalian herbivores in NW Yunnan
Mar. 14	Spring Break
March 21	Peter Bloch	Threats to livelihoods? Threats to biodiversity? Conflicts over access to natural resources.
March 28	David Marcouiller	Integrative tourism planning and community economic development: Occupational and income structure of employment reliant on tourist spending.
April 4	Tim Hildebrandt	Acting Outside the State? The Role of Public Participation and NGOs in Chinese Environmental Governance
April 11	Tony Ives	Cash income for subsistence farmers: Tourism, mushrooms, and honeymooning
April 18	Hong Jiang	Thinking through an integrative human-environmental analysis in China
April 25	Bill Karasov & James Burnham	Cranes and humans in China: Can the relationship be sustained?
May 2	Rob Streifer	Environmental Ethics, Animal Interests and Human Rights

The course will meet on Tuesday (3:30-4:45) and we will be in a Chamberlin Hall (corner of Charter and University) Room 2241